REDS AND WHITES OUT OF CALIFORNIA, ITALY AND FRANCE comprise this week's Wine Spectator Insider. Creative super Tuscan blends tasted by Bruce Sanderson represent 12 of the selections, while California reds largely outside the orbit of Cabernet Sauvignon, reviewed by James Laube and Tim Fish, make up another 15.

Tensley, Patz & Hall and Badia di Morrona all post strong releases, but leading this week's Hot Wines, on page 4, are the rich and creamy dry and off-dry Rieslings of Alsace, in France, led by venerable producers Albert Mann and Trimbach, reviewed by Alison Napjus.
